Course overview/description:

This course offers an introduction to contract law, theory and practice. This semester we will focus on contract interpretation, performance obligations, breach and remedies. We will explore the legal arguments made (or can be made) by each side of the dispute, the legal reasoning behind court rulings, and the purposes/policy goals the various legal rules are designed to serve.

Learning outcomes: By the end of the course, students will understand and be able to apply:

- Rules of interpretation and parol evidence
- Mistake and excuse doctrines
- Doctrines related to performance obligations and conditions
- The universe of contract remedies for breach

Basis of evaluation & assessments:

Grading will be based on the final exam. The exam will be open book and will likely consist of a series of essay questions based on the material covered in class. I reserve the right to adjust your grade down for lack of reading preparation.

Instructor expectations: Students are expected to arrive to each class prepared to discuss the assigned material, including the relevant UCC and Restatement (Second) provisions.

Course rules/structure: I will call on several students each class. On the day of class, I will post on TWEN the names of students who are expected to be called on the next day. Please note, however, that I expect everyone to be prepared for each class.

Feedback: I welcome constructive feedback via email at any time.

Attendance: This course adheres to the law school's attendance policy. Regular and punctual attendance are required to earn academic credit. Should circumstances occur where you anticipate the possibility of missing a substantial number of class sessions (e.g. a serious illness), you should immediately contact the Assistant Dean, Student Academic Affairs.

Class recordings prohibited: Pursuant to Academic Regulation 4-2.2, no portion of a class session or an examination may be preserved by means of a recording device such as an audio recording device or camera. Any exceptions to this policy must be expressly permitted in writing by me.

COVID instructional contingency plan: Any adjustment to teaching brought about as result of the Covid health emergency will be handled consistently with university policy.

COVID health & safety requirements: Please note that under current University health and safety protocols, face coverings and social distancing are required for all persons on campus. Please refer to the most up-to-date University policies here.

Exam conflicts: In accordance with Academic Regulation 4-4.1, excuses and requests for permission not to sit for an examination when scheduled must be presented, with appropriate documentation, to the Assistant Dean, Student Academic Affairs. Except in emergencies, such requests should be presented no later than two weeks before the date of the examination.
