

CIVIL RIGHTS PROSECUTIONS (SPRING 2023)
PROFS. WAGSTAFF, TREPPEL, MILLER

SYLLABUS

Description: This class will first cover a general history and background of civil rights prosecutions, which will include Reconstruction-era Klan violence, the history of peonage statutes and prosecutions, combatting lynching in the Jim Crow South, and cases from the Civil Rights era. After covering these historical perspectives, we will move into an in-depth analysis of three areas of modern civil rights prosecutions—(1) hate crimes (Prof. Miller); (2) color of law violations (Prof. Treppele); and (3) human trafficking (Prof. Wagstaff).

Disclaimer and Trigger Warning: Civil rights prosecutions are a serious and sensitive topic, where offensive, hateful, and violent conduct and speech will be covered and discussed extensively. The topics we will cover involve issues and incidents of sexual violence, racial violence, and violence at the hands of government officers and officials. In discussing these legal issues and the relevant cases, we will frequently encounter vulgar, traumatizing, and offensive language, descriptions of violent conduct, and graphic videos depicting violence. Students must determine before attending the first session whether they will be able to both read and listen to this material and discuss these sensitive and often triggering topics in an academic setting and that they can do so with the utmost respect and sensitivity.

Class Schedule & Location: Class meets Mondays and Wednesdays from 6:05 PM to 7:30 PM in classroom TBA.

Course Materials & Reading Assignments: There is no textbook for this class. All readings will be made available on TWEN or can be accessed through Westlaw/Lexis.

Grading: Your grade will be based on one take-home exam at the end of the semester and class participation. You will have 24 hours to complete the exam once it is “checked out,” and the exam will be essay format and short answer and will have a page limit. While your final grade will be based on your exam performance, we can also raise or lower your final grade one step based on the quality of class participation.

Attendance & Class Participation: Attendance will be taken at every class. If you know that you will be late to a class, or have to leave early, please let us know via email as soon as you reasonably can. Students are expected to be prepared for class. While we will take volunteers for class discussion, we also reserve the right to call on students. Students are expected to only use their computers or tablets for taking notes.

Office Hours: We do not hold regular office hours, but are available by appointment. We answer all emails within 24 hours. Email is the preferred method of communication outside the classroom, but we are available to speak to students via Zoom or telephone upon request. When sending an email, please include all three professors on the email. Our preferred email addresses: brandy.wagstaff@gmail.com; streppele@gmail.com; angiemac.va@gmail.com.

Learning Outcomes: By the end of the course students should:

- Be able to identify the constitutional and/or statutory authority for hate crimes, color of law, and human trafficking legislation.

CIVIL RIGHTS PROSECUTIONS (SPRING 2023)
PROFS. WAGSTAFF, TREPEL, MILLER

- Be able to identify the elements and applicability of hate crimes, color of law, and human trafficking statutes.
- Be able to identify the reach and limitations of current hate crimes, color of law, and human trafficking statutes.
- Be able to identify when sentencing enhancements and related statutes may apply to a particular hate crimes, color of law, and human trafficking violation.

Academic Policies & Honor Code: Unless students have been otherwise specifically informed in class, this course follows the standard policies adopted by the Law School, as they are amended from time to time. You can find more information about those policies here:
